HeartBeam is a medical technology company focused on transforming cardiac care through the power of personalized insights. Our aim is to deliver innovative, higher resolution ambulatory cardiac monitoring solutions that can be used by patients anywhere to enable the detection and monitoring of cardiac disease outside of a healthcare facility. Our ability to develop higher resolution Electrocardiogram ("ECG") solutions is achieved through the development of our proprietary and patented technology platform that allows us to collect the heart's electrical activity from three dimensions and synthesize a 12-Lead ("12L") ECG from these signals.
