Business, in the company's words

opening of Item 1 of the 10-K received Feb 12, 2026

As retail customers continue to consolidate and our retail customers grow larger and become more sophisticated, our consolidated retail customers may demand lower pricing and increased promotional programs. If we lower our prices or increase promotional support for our products and are unable to increase the volume of our products sold, our profitability and financial condition may be adversely affected. In addition, our customers offer branded and private label products that compete directly with our products for retail shelf space and consumer purchases. Accordingly, there is a risk that our customers may give higher priority to their own products or the products of our other competitors.
