Tenax Therapeutics is a Phase 3, development-stage pharmaceutical company using clinical insights to develop novel cardiopulmonary therapies. We employ a clinician-driven drug development approach, led by key opinion leaders and heart failure experts and informed by their clinical insights to precisely target disease pathophysiology. We are currently actively conducting the LEVEL and LEVEL-2 clinical trials to evaluate levosimendan as our prioritized product candidate and have deprioritized a Phase 3 clinical trial of imatinib, two drugs supported by promising evidence that they may significantly improve the lives of patients with pulmonary hypertension.
