operate in the following four segments: (i) manufacturing for construction; (ii) technology; (iii) oil and gas; and (iv) environmental services. The construction segment designs and constructs modular structures in our factory using recycled shipping containers; in the past, traditional wood and steel frames were also used. In the technology sector, we offer turnkey solutions to monitor oil and gas operations remotely and other similar applications. Our oil and gas wells operate in multiple states and in Canada. The environmental services segment operates in the oil and gas industry and provides renewable energy and other services on-site. are a provider of modular structures ("Modules").
